New Confession Reveals Hickman Double Murderer

James Mc Shot and Killed by Thoms, Rosehill, Cal., Druggist—Hunt Admits His Part in Attempted Holdup But Denies Killing The Shot.

Los Angeles, Dec. 29 (AP)—Confession to two murders in addition to those of other crimes, today found James Edward Hickman linked with the slaying of a druggist in a holdup a year ago.

Hickman, 19-year-old "fox" who admitted kidnapping and murdering Dan Parker, weakened before relentless questioning and late last night confessed he shot and killed Thoms, Rosehill, Cal., druggist, whom he implicated in Hickman's shooting of Thoms December 1925. Hickman made a confession which corroborated that of Dan Parker. Hunt denied, however, that it was he who fired the shot which killed Thoms as the youths attempted to rob his store.

Following into the records of the family police discovered that grandfather, A. R. Driskell, a merchant of Alhambra, Cal., supposedly had committed suicide some time ago by jumping from the Pasadena Bridge.

The newest confession not only reveals Hickman as a double murderer but also as leading a Jekyll-Hyde existence. Hickman was regularly employed as a messenger for the Los Angeles First National Bank and Savings Bank, of which Dan Parker, father of Marian, was an officer. He worked at the bank a period of about two years, ending six months ago, when he was charged after becoming involved in a forgery case. Hunt also is believed to have been employed by the bank, and to still be on the payroll of the institution.

The record of Hickman's outlawry was that he continued work at the bank for about six months after the drug store killing, and on being caught in a forgery case, was given light for the latter offense. He is 18 years old in December, 1926. An alleged suicide note, left by Hunt's father, entered the new angle in the case when police announced that he was examined in an effort to determine whether it was real or forged. The elder Hunt had been described as a man of some means and before his death was said to have transferred a large sum of money to the bank where his son was employed.

Tells Jailer of His Crime.

Police declared Hickman's latest confession was written by him in return for kindness bestowed upon him by jail officials here.

Throughout yesterday Hickman is treated the same as any other prisoner. He was given reading material and was asked frequently concerning his welfare.

Occasionally one of the jail officials would ask Hickman:

"Hickman, have you ever killed any one else?"

During the late hours of the night a question brought an answer.

Hickman was standing with his back resting against the bars of his cell door. He looked his jailer in the eye and with a faint smile turned away.

The jailers repeated the question and added:

"Hickman, you are going to die. Let us let you know. Have you ever killed any one else?"

Hickman, according to the officers, reacted suddenly and blurted out:

"Sure."

He asked for paper and pencil and began writing.

When he implicated Hunt, officers were sent out to bring the youth in. Hunt denied any knowledge of the time charged to him. But he was then informed that Hickman had confessed.

Shot During Holdup.

Newspaper files revealed that Thoms was shot when a police officer, J. W. Oliver, entered the store during the holdup. Oliver opened fire and the holdup men answered. Thoms was shot in the chest and Oliver in the right hand. Thoms died the day after Christmas.

One of the holdup men was seen to stagger as the officer fired and was assisted to the waiting automobile by the other. The police declared they found a scar on Hunt, which apparently had been caused by the bullet. Hunt insisted it was not a bullet mark.

The police worked at high speed in order to check Hickman's latest admissions before taking him into court today for arraignment on the murder and kidnapping charges.

Whether Hickman would plead guilty, as he has insistently declared since being returned here from Oregon, remained a matter of doubt in the mind of some of the prosecuting officials. The question of whether the kidnapping and murder confession contained the full details of the crime also arose to trouble the district attorney who has announced his intention to further question Hickman as to some of the obscure points.

Mrs. Carrie Briskell, grandmother of Hunt, also was brought to headquarters this morning for questioning.

Both Hickman and Hunt made their home with her in Alhambra a few weeks after the shooting. She issued a statement by Hickman that

Girl Safe, Hunt For Abductor

Ernest McClelland, Paroled Convict, Is Accused of Kidnapping Evelyn Smith—Found at Home of Mrs. Spence.

San Bernardino, Cal., Dec. 29 (AP)—With 11-year-old Evelyn Smith of Oakland, the victim of California's second kidnapping within the last two weeks, safe in the hands of county officers here today, a search was under way for her accused abductor, Ernest Arthur (Robert) McClelland, a paroled convict.

The discovery of the girl at the home of Mrs. Emma J. Spence at Redlands, near here, last night revealed that she had been there since Monday night throughout the time when the search for her and her kidnapper was most intense.

The girl's story told of an automobile trip south from Oakland beginning on the afternoon of Christmas day, when McClelland obtained consent of her parents for her to accompany him to Pasadena. He said his "wealthy" mother at Pasadena would adopt her.

Evelyn told the police McClelland had attempted to assault her.

Mrs. Spence told the officers that her first knowledge of the kidnapping came yesterday morning when she read of it in the newspapers. At that time both the girl and McClelland denied she had been kidnapped and declared that she was his small sister whom he was taking to visit his mother. Fear that her kidnapper would carry out threats made during the trip south kept her silent. Evelyn told the officers when at last they won her confidence.

McClelland's mother and his wife, who also lives at Pasadena, both denied having any knowledge of his whereabouts. His mother, however, told authorities that he disappeared with a 12-year-old girl of Parker, Ariz., several years ago, under circumstances similar to those in this case. No charges were made in the Arizona case, she said, when the pair was located at the home of friends.

When confronted by newspaper accounts of the kidnapping McClelland flew into a storm of denials and left the Spence home in his "borrowed" car, declaring he would "straighten this thing out" and return at night to "tell them all about it."

He did not return and Mrs. Spence called the Redlands police.

Mrs. Spence, a social worker, had corresponded with McClelland at the time he was serving a term in Folsom prison on a forgery charge.

New Feature in 'Phone Directory

New telephone directories will be distributed in the Kingston district, beginning tomorrow, and subscribers will find a delightful surprise when they examine the new books. In conformity with its policy of rendering the greatest public service possible, the New York Telephone Co. has begun extending some of its big town methods to the smaller cities and has chosen Kingston as the place in which to make the improvement first.

In the back part of the new directory will be found 20 pages of classified business directory, in which are listed all business concerns in the city of Kingston who have telephones. Heretofore this list of classified businesses has been found only in the city directory, which has a comparatively limited circulation and is not always easy to gain access to.

The new telephone directory is not confined to firms that advertise, but takes in all who have telephones. In big cities this practice has been followed for a number of years, but Kingston has been given the honor of being made the pioneer among the smaller cities in having this service.

City Hall to Be Ready by Next October

W. W. Kingston Company to Commence Work on Restoring Building Tuesday—Building Committee Decide to Award General Contract—Plumbing, Heating and Water Service Contracts to Be Awarded.

The city hall, which was badly damaged by fire last June, will be ready for occupancy by next October. That fact was brought out at a meeting of the city hall building committee, the architects and representatives of the W. W. Kingston Company, Inc., of this city and Poughkeepsie at a meeting held with Mayor E. J. Dempsey on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the mayor's office in the Municipal Building at which time the building committee decided to award the contract for restoring the city hall to the Kingston Company, which submitted the lowest bid for the work.

The Kingston Company's bid was for $249,973, and representatives of the concern assured the building committee that work on the contract would be started Tuesday, January 2. The Kingston Company's contract does not call for the plumbing, heating and water service for the building which is a separate bid. Tuesday evening the common council postponed the opening of bids for that part of the contract until Friday evening.

Lindbergh at Guatemala City

First Leg of Central American Flight Over Hazardous Mountain Country Completed in Fast Time.

Guatemala City, Dec. 29 (AP)—The capital of the "Land of the Eagle" today entertained its adopted son, the Lone Eagle, who came here on a mission of good will. Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh completed the first and longest leg of his Central American flight over a hazardous mountainous country at almost a 100 mile speed.

The Spirit of St. Louis performed magnificently on the trip of about 675 miles from Mexico City. Lindbergh said. Seven hours and five minutes after he left Mexico City, he landed at Aurora Field here at 1:40 p. m. (Central time).

Lindbergh had estimated that the flight might take nine hours and the crowds were still wending their way toward the field when the plane appeared between the peaks of the extinct volcano Fuego and Agua.

Guatemala accepted him as a friend and in recognition of his visit the city conferred upon the flyer the title "Adopted Son of Guatemala City."

When Lindbergh arrived he received a message of felicitation from President Coolidge and others from the President of Salvador and the ministry of war of Salvador.

"Hello, Guatemala," Lindbergh said as he stepped from the plane. "Wonderful, what a joy," he added. Lindbergh expects to resume his Central American tour tomorrow morning.

50 Firemen Have Narrow Escape

A terrific blast followed the collapse of the floors, blowing manhole covers in the street into the air and shattering every window in the building. The flames forced back 125 firemen about to enter.

The foot of the steel pillars which supported the structure. They buckled with the weight of the eight floors.

Machinery for New Factory Here

Shapiro & Rubin, Kingston's Newest Industrial Concern, Installing Machinery—Another Unit To Be Moved Here—New Industry Benefits City.

Machinery is now being installed on the second floor of the new factory of Shapiro & Rubin at South Avenue and Grand street in this city, an industry located here through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce. Shapiro & Rubin, who will be producing, have been manufacturers of novelty clothing in New York for over twenty years and came to Kingston with a splendid record in this line of business.

The present installation is from one of the four or five units they have been operating and as soon as their present Kingston unit is operating to their satisfaction, another will be moved here and in a short time the entire plant will be working to capacity. Much credit should be given to the architect and contractors who have built a plant, modern in every way, which is a credit to the city.

Mr. Berger, who is in charge of the plant operation, will be at the plant from now on and beginning Friday, December 31, at 2 a. m. will be glad to interview any applicants for employment. Mr. Berger wishes it understood that there is work for men as well as women.

The Chamber of Commerce wishes to take this opportunity of welcoming to Kingston the firm of Shapiro & Rubin and those associated with them and to express to them their best wishes for a prosperous business and a happy home life in Kingston.

How Kingston Will Benefit.

This addition to the industrial life of Kingston, it is believed, will be of great benefit. First, in those who will find employment there, and secondly, to the various merchants who, because of an added payroll, will find new customers coming to their stores to make purchases.

That the merchants felt they would derive a benefit was evidenced by the financial aid they gave to make possible this new factory. The erection of this building also gave employment to a large number of men employed by the various contractors and this also put more money in circulation providing a greater purchasing power which was distributed throughout the city.

Much of the material used in the construction of the building was purchased from local manufacturers or wholesalers thus creating a larger business for the entire community.

The effect of a new industry coming into any community is felt and aids nearly every branch of that community's life. An account is made for some bank, the lawyer secures a fee for his services, even the doctors are benefited, because men will receive injuries that need attention. Contractors in all lines are engaged which means employment of many men in different branches of work. The mason, plumber, steamfitter, electrician, roofer, metal worker, painter, all receive wages and have been mentioned before the manufacturer and wholesaler receives orders. Then when all is complete the employees are given an opportunity for year round employment and then the merchant comes in for his share, due to an added payroll in the community.

Death Here of Wm. G. Maynard

Assistant Postmaster Had Been Ill For Long Time—Entered Service as Clerk in Roundout Office in 1880.

William G. Maynard, assistant postmaster of Kingston, died Wednesday evening at 10 o'clock at his home, No. 11 West Chester street, after a long illness. He is survived by his wife and one daughter, Mrs. Thomas Crosby of this city. Although Mr. Maynard had been ill for over a year he continued at work until about two months ago when he was forced to take to his bed.

Mr. Maynard entered the post office service in Kingston in 1885 as a clerk in the Roundout office, and when the Central Post Office was opened in 1895, he was assigned to duty there and through his industry and strict attention to his duties, he rapidly rose to the position of assistant postmaster, which position he held for the past nine years.

There were few men connected with the postal service in Kingston, who were held in higher esteem than Mr. Maynard. During the nearly forty years that he served as a member of the department he was noted for his efficient work and thorough knowledge of all the details of the post office department.

Mr. Maynard was a man with whom it was a pleasure to work and he was always found ready and willing to help those who worked with him in handling the mail in this city. He was a general favorite with all of the employees of the post office department.

During the many years that he had been connected with the postal service he had won the respect and admiration of all who knew him, and he was a familiar figure with all of the details, both small and great, connected with the handling of the growing volume of mail that is handled from the Kingston office.

Postmaster Walter P. Crane stated that in the death of Mr. Maynard the postal service in Kingston had sustained a distinct loss. Mr. Maynard was thoroughly familiar with all the duties of the department, and a man who could be thoroughly relied upon.

Funeral services will be held from the late residence Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock where a solemn requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment in St. Mary's cemetery.

May Recover Bodies from S-4

At an Early Date Due to Continued Good Weather—Half of Second Tunnel Under Hull Completed.

Provincetown, Mass., Dec. 29 (AP)—Hope for the early recovery of some of the bodies of the victims of the S-4 submarine disaster was raised today as the naval salvage fleet prepared to take advantage of continued good weather.

Favorable conditions yesterday enabled divers to complete half of the second tunnel under the hull of the submerged craft and it was expected that the bore might be well under way by nightfall today.

The second tunnel probably will be the last required to raise the wreck. The divers will penetrate the inside of the hull to seal compartments preliminary to the unwatering operations which will precede attachment of pontoons to the chains which are to be looped about the submersible through the tunnels.

Barring storms or unforeseen developments, this work should be done by the end of the week. Naval officers directing the salvage believe that some of the bodies of the forty officers and men who went to their deaths in the 17 fathoms of water off Wood End nearly two weeks ago may then be brought to the surface.

Price, was passing out of the city, it struck the heavily laden truck, almost completely demolishing it. Fortunately no one was in the truck at the time and no one was injured.

England, Belgium, France, Suffering From Heavy Snow

By The Associated Press.

Northwestern Europe was in the grip of a three day snow storm today, northern France, England and Belgium suffering heavily.

Cross channel shipping was stopped and even ocean liners found difficulty in entering port, while railway shipping scurried to safety before heavy gales.

Isolated villages in the southern section of England were pressed for food supplies with men struggling miles through drifts to obtain food for snowbound families; foraging parties were sent out on the Isle of Wight to rescue distress.

Amused travel is held up by the snow in the Channel. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York had a thrilling automobile ride over snow filled roads to Norfolk to attend the annual hunt last night.

So many wires have been brought down by snow and gales in France that the full tale of havoc is still unknown, but shipping both along the Channel and the Mediterranean was stopped.

Rain storms swept the Moroccan coast, taking three lives in the sinking of a trawler, while foot waters invaded Capablanca.

Traffic in Belgium was paralyzed with reports that wolves are making their appearance in the western part, attacking cattle and spreading terror.

River Steamers To Run All Year

The Central Hudson Steamboat Company announced today that it expects to continue daily steamer service between this port and New York all winter, unless ice conditions prove such that it is impossible for a boat to break a way through.

The lower Hudson river while filled with floating ice, is still navigable, and the big steamers of the Central Hudson Line have encountered no trouble in running close to schedule time. Officials of the line have notified the Kingston Chamber of Commerce of the intention to operate boats all winter.

Aside from the steamers of the Central Hudson Line the only other vessels in commission in this port are the tug Rob of the Cornell Line and the ferry Transport.

While stating that the message to be submitted on the opening day of the session would be the longest he had written, the Governor did not indicate how many pages it would contain. He denied published reports that he intended to broadcast a summary of it by radio. He also scouted statements that a portion of it would be devoted to national issues.

Last Call for Compensation

Only Two Days Left in Which World War Veterans or Their Families May Apply for Adjusted Compensation to Which They Are Entitled.

State Headquarters, The American Legion, through Adjutant Maurice Stember, is making a last minute appeal to those not having applied for the adjusted compensation. There are just two more days left in which to make application for this, as the doors will be closed to everyone after December 31.

Attention is called to the fact that every man who served during the World War, and has a honorable discharge, whether he be able-bodied or disabled, is entitled to this certificate. It is for officers below the rank of major, as well as for the "buck private." Almost anywhere a veteran may turn he can find a Legion Post and a willing Post Commander or Adjutant to render him assistance, as there are over 800 Posts in New York state.

In addition to the eligible aforementioned classes of veterans, The American Legion wishes to impress upon the guardians of mentally incapacitated veterans, and the dependents of deceased veterans, that they are in duty bound to secure for them before the time limit the adjusted compensation to which they are entitled.

If the veteran himself is not now living, and he did not file application during his life-time, payments on this so-called Federal Bonus may be made to:

The surviving widow, if not remarried.

The veteran's minor children, if dependent on him at the time of death.

The veteran's mother, if dependent.

The veteran's father, if dependent. Therefore, dependents who have not applied for this compensation should do so immediately, as it is their just due. Adjusted compensation, properly termed federal bonus, provides for payments of compensation on the theory that it is an adjustment of the active service pay due the veteran.

Dependency is considered automatic in the instance of a widow, if unmarried, or the children, if under 18 years of age. The mother or father must show the existence of a state of dependency either at the time of the veteran's death, or up to the date of filing application, or must show by birth certificate, or suitable affidavits, that they are over 60 years of age.

Figures compiled by Legion officials indicate that the average adjusted compensation certificate is worth approximately $1,000, sometimes considerably more than this. In making this final appeal, Adjutant Stember realizes that many of these eligible have not applied for compensation either through ignorance, carelessness, or not realizing how valuable the certificate is. It is in reality a 20 year paid up endowment policy and those not applying for it are guilty of gross negligence, as it not providing for their dependents, as it does not necessitate loss of time, nor any outlay of money.

Physicians for the Well

Physicians were originally trained to treat the sick. Until recently, they have not had a primary interest in the well. It is now increasingly easy to find a physician who is interested in his patient, who is desirous of keeping him well, who is competent to carry out a thorough examination, and who is able and willing to give constructive hygienic advice. More and more the medical profession is realizing that there is a tremendous field for medical service in this private practice of preventive medicine. Most individuals can with advantage be advised how to work wisely, how to play safely, how to live happier lives in a hygienically constructive manner, with the logical sequence of a fuller life with greater duration—a longer life and a merrier one.—Dr. Donald B. Armstrong in the North American Review.

There was a fine entertainment given at the school house by the pupils of the New Hurley school last Friday afternoon, consisting of recitations, songs and a dialogue. There was also a tree laden with gifts for the pupils, and at the close of the program Santa made his appearance pleasing the little folks. A number of visitors were present. Much credit is due the teacher, John Lyons, who, assisted by a few of the older scholars, planned the program.

OLIVE BRIDGE.

Olive Bridge, Dec. 29.—The Christmas entertainments here were both very good. The children did their parts very well. The children of Skeeter Corner school gave the audience many humorous speeches. The Rev. and Mrs. Rice are spending a week with Mrs. Rice's parents in Pennsylvania.

Werrenrath at Schubert Concert

The regular weekly rehearsal of the Schubert Choral Club of the Y. W. C. A. will be held on Friday evening at seven o'clock. The club is very busy at present making plans for the winter concert for which they have secured Reinhold Werrenrath as soloist. Mr. Werrenrath is undoubtedly one of the most popular concert singers appearing before the public today—a fact which is testified to by the mere statement that this distinguished baritone seldom sings less than seventy concerts in a season, and frequently more than eighty. He always gives from two to three concerts each year in Carnegie Hall, New York city. He has made two memorable trips to the Pacific Coast and for three seasons scored a tremendous success in recitals in London, England. Werrenrath is one of the finest and best beloved of American baritones.

NEW WHIPPET MODEL

AND NEW PRICE JANUARY 6

Important developments in the new priced field are predicted by John N. Willys, president of Willys-Overland, Inc., in a statement in which he said, "There can be no monopoly in the light car class." At the same time he announced that the Whippet, the original European type light car introduced 12 months ago, would be shown at all dealers on January 6 with improved bodies, new and added equipment, and at prices which would place it in direct competition with the lowest priced cars on the American market. Mr. Willys said that production economies of a kind not to be exceeded by any other manufacturer had been worked out by Willys-Overland. A new body building plant and a new forge shop completed this year and now in operation, have effected marked savings. He also said that the service costs of the Whippet for the past 19 months had been so low that the list price on the car need not include heavy allowances for service and replacements.

Production of the Whippet with the improvements, which will be included despite the new low prices, is already under way and immediate deliveries are promised at all dealers early in January. While the new prices will not be advertised until January 6, Mr. Willys stated that they would be reduced by a striking margin and will be the lowest prices in the history of the Willys-Overland Company. This will be the first time in the history of the industry that there has been direct competition in the lowest price range.

Production capacity on the Whippet at the Willys-Overland plant will now permit a daily output of 1,000, with facilities already under way to increase this figure. The improved Whippet at the new prices will be announced simultaneously in all parts of the country.

Notice is hereby given that the Annual Meeting of the Willys-Overland Co. will be held at the office of the Company, Walkhill, New York, on the 16th day of January, 1928, at two o'clock P. M. for the purpose of electing a full Board of Directors for the ensuing year and inspectors of election, and for the transaction of such business as may properly come up before the meeting.

JOHN C. GILBERT,
Secretary.

Father Hafford is an Ulster county product and therefore fits in with local laws of life. Last fall he visited France and Italy, returning about three weeks ago, and at the Rotary luncheon he gave a talk on the things seen and heard while abroad. The trip was largely in the nature of a pilgrimage to Rome after 16 years a priest, but there were worldly things that came under the notice of Father Hafford and it was of these that he talked most. There were descriptions of the voyage, of Naples, Rome, Vesuvius, Capri, Sorrento, and of unusual incidents, most of them due to the American spirit and enterprise of the traveler.

At an audience with the Pope he was singled out for a few words, because he was an American, which probably made them all think maybe was going to be the next Pope, and at the consecration of the first native born Japanese bishop he got front seat, again because the magic word "American" backed by American enterprise and a liberal tip made an impression on one of the Swiss guards.

Spoke "New York" Language. At the exercises on Armistice Day on the scene of the signing of the armistice he arrived by special train from Paris although not a member of the American Club, which had chartered the train. At the station he asked a French official in very bad French, if he could go on the train and was told he could not. Telling the President that he was an American from New York produced the effect of bringing in a Presidentman who spoke English and wanted to know what it was all about. The case was restored, whereupon the second Presidentman said "I don't see why the hell you want to go on the train. You are from New York and you are American."

From the way you talk I've heard enough to know there is a language barrier. I said the Presidentman and Father Hafford got on the train. At the station he met Madame Poincaré and was greatly impressed by the simple manner.

Massachusetts. Father Hafford says is a dictator and the his enemies are for good. He has made the people go back to their work and made the children go to school. There is no private language of the streets and the people are being forced to shake off their natural laziness. Massachusetts is beloved by the great majority and the others are afraid to criticize as things are done. In what Italy differs from America even though America does have prohibition.

Compare Paris and New York. Things about in Paris that New York would not tolerate for 24 hours, and after visiting Europe, other one cannot help but feel proud of the cleanliness of New York, moral and physical. In France there is rampant vice and profound religion. At first one despairs, but on observing the crowded churches it is realized that the great masses are around morality and it is only a flagrant minority that is immoral and irreligious.

While in Europe not a native drunk person was seen on the streets. He was not in New York 24 minutes before he saw a drunk on Eleventh avenue. There are reasons. One is that Americans do not know how to drink. They gulp it down. Prohibition has not helped because prohibition is wrong. That which is not an evil in itself should not be prohibited by civil law. Liquor is not in itself evil. The evil lies in excessive use. In moderation lies virtue. So prohibition has brought disaster to the country and wealth to the bootleggers.

America The best country. Father Hafford bowed on the floor, said Mass was the temple of St. Peter and St. Paul, visited the catacombs the Colosseum the Forum, Louvres and many other places which he described out of his opinion. America is the only country after all. It is great and it is up to us to keep it great. Let Europe squabble and let us get out. We have our task here.

One new member was received into the club a letter of thanks from the Salvation Army was read and visitors from Port Jervis and Hockmoe, China were welcomed at the meeting. It was also announced that the attendance at the meeting a week ago was just one short of being 100 per cent.

PLINTARCH. Plintarch, Dec. 21.—The entertainment given by the teacher and scholars of the district school at the church last Friday evening was very well rendered. The tree was beautifully decorated and Santa Claus had left a present for each scholar. The teacher also received a number of presents at the close of the exercises. A large nap was passed around and every one got a prize. Great credit is due Mrs. Fred Norman in training the children and also for the decorations.

Readers' Flowers.
We are the roadside flowers
Straying from garden grounds
Lovers of idle hours
Breakers of ordered hours

If only the earth will feed us
If only the wind be kind
We blossom for those who find us
The stragglers left behind

And in the Lord of the Garden
He makes His sun to glow
And His rain to fall like pearls
On our dusty Paradise

On us he has laid the dust
The task of the wanderer's tread
To better the world with beauty
Wherever the way may lead

Who shall inquire of the season
Or question the wind where it blows
We blossom and ask no reason
The Lord of the Garden knows

Some people are like prize lists
You have to know what the discount is on what they say.

Cigarette pins are the latest fad among smokers. They are used to pin up holes caused by cigarette burns. The novelty must be rather a small device. Four burns and there would be no place to pin.

Norah: How funny! It's a good thing all folks ain't as superstitious as you!

A college student rose from the table at a fashionable dining room and walked toward the door.

He was passing the house detective at the entrance when a silver sugar bowl dropped from his bulging coat.

The guest glanced calmly at the officer, and then turned with an expression of quiet annoyance toward the occupants of the room. "Ruffians," he said, "who threw that!" and walked out.

My girl has varicose veins, doctor. What do you advise?
"Rubber stockings."

"But, doctor! How do I know she'll let me?"

The question "What do you think?" is a high compliment to some people.

A man writing to the Baltimore Sun says that, harrang his footgear, the costume of the girl today can be sent through the mails for four cents, and darned if some of the fads don't almost look as if they were on their way BACK from the post office.

Damages by Dogs Are Increasing

Claims For Such Damages to Domestic Animals Show Increase—Appraisals in Commissioner and Executive—Dog License Fees Exceed $800,000.

In the last year $155,150.74 was paid for damages to domestic animals by dogs as compared to $120,777.25 in the previous dog licensing year. Claims for damages by dogs are increasing annually, according to reports to Commissioner Berne A. Pyke, of the Department of Agriculture and Markets, with a total number of 7,611 in 1927 and 5,271 in 1926.

The amount of license fees collected under the dog licensing law increased from $21,570.25 in 1926 to $26,712.40 in 1927, with a total collected for fees, penalties and redeeming of dogs of $531,654.55 in 1926 and $586,255.59 in 1927. Of the latter, $443,250.00 was remitted to county treasurers, in accordance with the law, and $54,846.70 went to police pension funds in twenty cities and one village. Ten per cent, $51,472.53 was turned over to the state treasurer.

In the previous year $32,155.19 was paid in appraisers fees and in 1927 this increased to $35,591.55.

Appraisal is expensive. Cost of appraisals in case of damages to domestic animals is one of the difficult problems connected with the licensing of dogs. The law was originally enacted for the protection of sheep and for fostering sheep raising, but other domestic animals were included so that claims are paid for damage to cattle, swine, fowls, horses, rabbits, and goats.

Under the law, owners of domestic animals or fowls injured by dogs are required to notify one of the three assessors in a town. This assessor must notify the other two, and they make the appraisal of damage, receiving ten cents a mile for travel and three dollars for each appraisal. This plan has proved rather expensive in some instances. A rooster killed by dogs was appraised at $5 and the cost of appraisal was $20. It has been proposed that appraisers be named by the department and that they be paid fees for their work. It has also been suggested that a county appraiser and enforcement officer be named in each county.

Fewer Sheep Killed by Dogs. Reports submitted to Commissioner Pyke show a decrease of 22 in the number of sheep killed in the last dog licensing year as compared to the previous year, the total being 8,520.

Sheep and lambs injured in 1927 numbered 4,953; in 1926, 5,035. Sixty-six cattle were killed in 1927, an increase of 20 over 1926, while 126 were injured, an increase over 1926 of 58.

Swine killed in 1927 numbered 104, an increase of 81. Twenty-nine were injured, an increase of six. The number of fowls killed was 8,102, an increase of 3,141 over 1926. Only 940 fowls were injured, a decrease of 363.

Two horses died as a result of attacks by dogs. A polo pony, bitten by a dog and killed, was appraised at $1,500.

Rabbits numbering 418, an increase of 200, were killed and 52 injured. Eighteen goats were killed, a decrease of 10.

Recommendations with regard to changes in the law relative to appraisal of damages are under consideration. If a plan is decided upon, it may come before the Legislature at the 1928 session.

Audits are almost as expensive as dam sites that fail to dam.

Hickey Called To Duty Again

Commander Andrew S. Hickey of the American Embassy in Buenos Aires was called to duty again leaving town on Tuesday.

Commander Hickey at the close of his tour of duty as assistant to the American Embassy in Buenos Aires was placed in command of the supply ship U. S. S. Sapelo. The Sapelo is 477 feet long 60 feet wide and has a draft of 25 feet. It has twelve officers besides Commander Hickey and 161 men.

This supply ship carries 3,150 tons of oil and 18,000 tons of supplies for the supply service. In addition it has a reserve supply of fuel covering a staying radius of sixty days. The Sapelo can patrol the world's waters, keeping constantly in action without having to stop at any port for fuel for its own service.

Commander Hickey was called to Norfolk in conference on December 25 and will sail at once for San Pedro, to return in April.

Canton Under New Control

Canton, Dec. 29 (AP)—The troops of General Li Chai-Sum arrived in Canton this morning and took over control of the city from General Li Fak-Lam without incident.

The troops of General Li Chai-Sum, who was in control of Canton until a coup d'état on November 17, are now patrolling the entire city.

General Li Fak-Lam's troops withdrew to Honam Island in the river opposite Canton.

The return of the troops of General Li Chai-Sum to control in Canton represents the fourth change in the control of the important southern city within the last few months which have been marked by much fighting and bloodshed.

Li Chai-Sum, who represents a more moderate nationalist group than his predecessors, was in control of the city until he left it last month in order to go to Shanghai for a conference of nationalist leaders. While he was gone General Chang Fak-Wel, a subordinate, staged a coup d'état and seized control of the city himself.

Early in December the Communists in Canton drove out Chang Fak-Wel after much fighting and took over the reins of government. The Communist rule, however, was short-lived, since Chang Fak-Wel reconstituted his forces and drove the Communists out after ruthless slaughter. Between 2,000 and 3,000 persons, including at least 11 Russians, were estimated to have been killed during the crushing of the Communist revolt.

Meanwhile General Li-Sum had been marching from Swatow, where he had gathered his army, to recapture Canton.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

Reception Wednesday afternoon and evening was the best in a long time. There was no static, no local disturbances. Volume was strong and a number of western stations were heard before 6 o'clock. One of the best of the chain programs was the Socconland visit to Syracuse. These programs are instructive and entertaining. The toothpaste tooters were also good. 2XI was again on the air with an afternoon program by the unnamed baritone. Many a pretentious program is not as really funny as the unnamed baritone in his unannounced visits from the WGY laboratory. His travesties on the usual program are excellent. Especially good was his bedtime story about young Lochinvar and the Enchanted Bottle.

Vinegar in History

Vinegar was first made from wine as its name indicates, at a remote period. Biblical writers mentioned it, and Hippocrates used it as a medicine. By the sixteenth century vinegar from grapes was being produced in France for home consumption and for export. In England vinegar was first made from malt liquor, a method of disposing of ale and beer which had secured. For this reason it was known as "alegar." Although this name has long since become obsolete, malt vinegar is still the standard in the British Isles. It is not known just when vinegar was first made in the United States, certainly very early as a home product.

Enough Herring for All

That great sea bird, the gannet or solan goose, requires a large amount of fish. There are not many breeding haunts in these islands, but the few that we have are wonderful bird fortresses, for the birds congregate in their thousands, occupying every available ledge on the giant cliffs they choose for their home. The gannets of Great Britain alone consume not less than 60,000,000 herrings a year, yet there appears to be plenty in the sea for them and us. If every gannet in the world were exterminated, I doubt if it would make the slightest difference to the amount of herrings captured by our fishermen.—London Mail.

FLIN FLON RICH IN MINERAL ORE

Newest Canadian Field Reveals Anything Known in Dominion.

Toronto, Ont.—Canada's industrial scene has shifted to a new point in the far northern wilderness, bearing the intriguing name of Flin Flon. To reach Flin Flon the cross line 400 miles northwest from Winnipeg, leaving behind former jumping-off points of civilization such as Lake Manitoba, Lake Winnipegosis and Letellier, the junction point of the progressing Hudson Bay railway, Flin Flon lies close to the boundary between Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

In the Flin Flon area has been discovered an immense body of mineral ore bearing copper, zinc and gold in high volume. Its existence has been known for several years, but so inaccessible is the region that prospecting operations have been difficult and slow. However, it is now accepted as an established fact that the ore body exists in value anything that has hitherto been discovered in Canada, including the lead zinc mines of British Columbia or the nickel or gold mines of Ontario.

For a couple of years the property has been under option to the Whittier-Channing syndicate of Boston and New York. The period of the option expired on December 1. For weeks prior to the closing of the deal on that date great excitement surrounded daily conferences in Winnipeg and Ottawa. The public recognized in the transaction something more than an ordinary business deal. It marked, in addition, another climax in the constantly unfolding romance in the development of the great waste plains of the North.

Three Governments Involved. Three governments were involved in the negotiations, those of the Dominion, of Manitoba and of Saskatchewan. All points at issue are said to have been closed and the decks are cleared for action.

An immediate expenditure of from $50,000,000 to $75,000,000 is projected. Within a year or two a new city is expected to be in existence in the far northern wilderness.

The first requisite of a railway has been provided for. A branch 85 miles long from the Hudson Bay railway will be constructed by the Canadian National railways. Toward its construction the Manitoba government will guarantee deficits up to $100,000 a year for five years and the Flin Flon interests will contribute $250,000.

The government has given guarantees as to freight rates, and the corporation has given guarantees as to the damages that will result from the fumes of the giant smelter that is to be erected.

Two power sites are available, one at Island falls on the Churchill river and one at White Mud falls on the Nelson. The corporation favors the latter, where 25,000 to 40,000 horse power is available. A transmission line 270 miles long will be necessary. The power developed is to be made available to other mining companies and for pulp and paper mills which may be established in connection with the adjacent wood-pulp areas. A United States lease is expected to do the underwriting and the Canadian public will no doubt be given a chance to participate.

Prospector Gives Credit. Jack Hammett, a veteran Canadian prospector and mining promoter, is given much of the credit for the Flin Flon development. Some years ago the property was acquired by the Mining Corporation of Canada, one of the successful cobalt silver companies. From this company the Whittier-Channing syndicate secured its option. Under the terms of the deal the mining corporation retains a 15 per cent interest in the property.

Some thirty-five miles from the Flin Flon ore body there has been located a similar deposit known as the Sherfitt-Gordon property, which some say is bigger than Flin Flon and in which Noah Timmins, head of the Hollinger and Noranda, is heavily interested. Development there is expected to proceed simultaneously, perhaps under a merger arrangement. There are a number of smaller properties in the territory.

One estimate of the value of the ore in Flin Flon places it at $250,000,000, so that with Sherfitt-Gordon there is probably $500,000,000 in sight.

Dog Hero of War to Be Honored in Death

Washington.—A silver plate purchased by his comrades in arms and relating his deeds of valor is to adorn the plaster cast of Stubby, the dog mascot of the American expeditionary force, who captured a German spy and saved the life of a doughboy during the World war.

The plaster cast has been given a place of honor in the American Red Cross museum.

Stubby was a veteran of four major engagements, having seen service at the Marne, Champagne, St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne. President Wilson shook hands with him on Christmas day, 1918, and he was received officially at the White House by Presidents Harding and Coolidge. He died in 1926 and his ashes were incased in an airtight container which was placed inside the plaster cast.

He Threw a Turnip

A society woman called on a famous painter who, when necessity arose, could express himself with emphasis.

Her ceaseless chatter did not permit him to get in a word edgewise.

At length a pause to take breath allowed him to say, "We had boiled mutton and turnips for lunch today."

"What a strange observation!" the woman exclaimed.

"Well," he said, "it is as good as anything you have been saying for the last two hours."—London Tit-Bits.

Map of Business Conditions

(Reprinted from Forbes Magazine of January 2, 1928)

Where business is designated as "good" in the above map (reprinted through the courtesy of Forbes Magazine), it is actually good now and not merely good by comparison with a month or year ago. The factors considered are: Agriculture, industry, employment, trade, money, and credit conditions.

Early European Mint

The records show that there was a mint for making coins at Evora in Portugal established by the Soerle Goths between the years 450 and 467. It is, therefore, quite possible that jewelry and coins of Portugal are marked with dates of more than 1,000 years ago.

Rebuking Presumption

"Cocksure" means overconfident or presumptuously sure. A cocksure person is one who thinks he "knows it all." The phrase was suggested by the barnyard cock. At least that is the accepted theory. Shakespeare used it in the sense of "sure as the cock of a firelock."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Work of Locksmiths Encouraged by Kings

The evolution of the lock in France may be traced in great part to the direct encouragement given to the craft by her kings. It was Charles VIII who in 1411 made it compulsory for every locksmith apprentice who aimed at becoming a master to produce a "chef d'oeuvre" lock of such degree that it would entail anything from one year to two in the making. The delicate and intricate examples that are treasured in museums are mostly drawn from the best pieces, none of which, however, bears the name of the smith, though the majority are sufficiently interesting to merit a signature. The forge had little connection with such locks and none was cast in the rough. Great is the ingenuity brought to bear on them in order to display some little unexploited device or to break some fresh ground in ornament. For strong boxes there were contrived locks that are a miracle of intricacy.

Under Francis I, an enthusiastic patron of the locksmith, the craft reached its summit, whence it was then to decline, if not in respect of elaboration, at least in respect of true beauty and feeling. Under Louis XIII, who was so keen a lover of fine ironwork that he himself tolled at the forge and in the workshop, the lock excelled in point of mechanism and ingenuity, but rapidly deteriorated from the esthetic standpoint. It had reached the point where the production of puzzle and letter locks began to take precedence of locks that represented compositions of real artistic quality.

Nomad Weavers

The inhabitants of eastern Asia are, generally speaking, a very ignorant class, education being almost unknown. From the top of a hill one may look down on a wide valley some 20 miles in width and observe a dozen or more black tents woven of goat's hair which are the homes of nomad weavers. These people, whose livelihood depends almost entirely on their flocks, are forced, and have been forced for untold generations to move about from place to place in search of pasturage, which is ever changing in this land of scanty rainfall. As one would expect, this mode of living has made these people a little more strong in body, but entirely devoid of culture.

Perfect Title

"Fee simple" was originally "fee simple," the first word meaning cattle, which in the days when that word was used was the source of all human wealth and not really as is the case today. The "simple" meant "to the entirety." Thus "fee simple" has come down to mean "an absolute title—the best that there is."

Grasshopper Vane Not

Original With Faneuil

It is generally conceded that when Peter Faneuil caused a large grasshopper to be placed on top of Faneuil hall in Boston as a weather-vane, he did it in emulation of Thomas Gresham, who 176 years before had given his home city, London, a handsome house for merchants, dedicated by Queen Elizabeth as the Royal Exchange and crowned by the Gresham family crest, a gilded grasshopper. The grasshopper had been adopted for a crest by the Greshams obviously because the name Gresham is regarded as a corruption of the German word for grasshopper, "grashelm." Faneuil undoubtedly had seen the London grasshopper and liked it, so he chose it for the building he gave to Boston. The Faneuil hall grasshopper has fallen to the street three times in its 155 years' existence, once in the famous 1755 earthquake, again in 1761 when the building was burned, and finally in 1880, as a result of getting entangled with the flagpole, balliards. After the 1755 tumble a demolished leg had to be replaced, and in 1880 new glass eyes, as well as horns and feet were required.—Detroit News.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Dec. 29 (AP).—Heavy buying of the railroad equipment shares, based on reports of large locomotive and freight car orders, featured the mixed price movement in today's stock market. Resumption of selling pressure at the opening carried many issues down 1 to 5 points, but the market turned upward in the early afternoon under the leadership of U. S. Steel common and General Motors, which quickly advanced 2 and 1 point, respectively above yesterday's final quotations.

Early selling was particularly effective against the eastern coalers, which have suffered loss of business as a result of the unseasonably warm weather. Lackawanna broke nearly 5 points, despite the declaration of an extra dividend of $1, and several others yielded a point or two.

National Lead broke six points, Continental Insurance (Old) four, and Kelly Springfield, Commercial, and Kelly Springfield, Commercial, each yielded two points or more.

Pools continued active in anticipation of a heavy January re-investment demand. New 1927 peak prices were established by about a score of issues, including Brooklyn Edison, Brooklyn Union Gas, Consolidated Gas, Collins and Aikman, Outlet Company, Mexican Petroleum and American International.

Baldwin Locomotive extended its early gain to 6 1/2 points and American Locomotive advanced two points. Wide fluctuations continued in Midland Steel Products preferred, which soared 11 1/2 points and then lost all its gain in the first three hours of trading.

Early Millstones

The millstones used in the early grist mills abroad were made of basalt, a form of silica, which was as hard as flint, but not so brittle. In this country they were made largely from sandstone quarried in Ulster county, New York; Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, and Montgomery county, Virginia.

Around Orchard

PRUNING TIME IS AGAIN AT HAND

As the season that is in general considered pruning season for fruit trees draws near, it may not be out of place to say a few words about pruning. After one has observed the results of pruning for fifteen to twenty-five years, one sees problems that did not appear before. In the past, and by many in the present time, pruning is done to have some brush to pick up so it can be said, "Yes, I have pruned." Of late years, however, pruning is done in a different way, especially by those who prune for results. So much can be done by proper pruning, especially on apples, that it is almost unbelievable to see the results.

The old method of pruning was to reduce the top by a few cuts of large branches, which was considered sufficient reduction of fruiting surface and a balancing of root and top. In later years, especially after trees have reached the age of twelve to twenty years, it is necessary to have a little keener eye and look further than this.

Overloading of the outer branches results in poor color and undersized fruit and consequently this condition ought to be remedied. In order to do this, one must prune from the outside in and reduce the fruiting surface on numerous branches instead of reducing the number of branches by a few large limbs only. By pruning from the outside in toward the center and reducing many branches, you have distributed the reduction of fruiting area over a wide range and consequently have reduced the possibility of much sucker growth.

In the case of a few large cuts it forms profusely, causing increased work the following year to clear out that sucker growth. You also have reduced or largely thinned your fruit by pruning, allowing much more exposure to sunlight and better aeration and making control of scab and insects easier.

Windbreaks Lessen Harm by Hot or Cold Winds

Where an orchard is located in an exposed situation, windbreak protection is usually a distinct advantage. Windbreaks minimize the injuries due to hot or cold winds, to the drying effects of winds, and also prevent mechanical injury. In sandy, exposed situations the blowing sands are injurious to the tender growth of young trees, and as the trees become older, strong winds cause breaking of the branches and injury to the fruit. Strong winds blowing constantly from one direction also will cause fruit to become misshapen and difficult to prune properly. An example of this is seen in the Sulphur Spring valley where the constant sweep of the prevailing winds has caused the majority of the fruit trees in that district to develop mainly on the leeward side. The simplest windbreak is made of one kind of tree planted in a single, close row; if the winds are not strong and only a partial checking of their force is desired, this type of windbreak is usually all that is necessary. However, for more complete protection it is necessary to plant two or more rows of different kinds of trees, so selected and arranged that low, dense-growing kinds are spaced between taller ones.

Meadow and Pine Mice Cause Greatest Injury

Meadow and pine mice usually cause the greatest injury in orchards. Pine mice live in underground burrows and feed on roots and bulbs while meadow mice live largely on the surface under matted vegetation and feed on stems of grass and other available food above ground. Meadow mice attack and girdle the base of the trees to a height of four or five inches. This injury is often thought to be caused by rabbits. Pine mice attack the roots, oftentimes girdling the entire root system. This injury is most serious as it passes unnoticed, in most cases, until too late to benefit the tree by bridge grafting or other means.

Wooden mousetraps baited with a pinch of rolled oats is a means of determining the species infesting the orchard. Trapping is also an effective method to use in ridding a slight infestation in small orchards.

In large areas control measures consist in proper cultivation, use of nongame crop crops, and systematic poisoning during the fall and winter. Full information may be obtained by writing the Department of Entomology, Purdue University, Lafayette, Ind.

Protect Young Trees

Rabbits are already bothering young trees in some orchards. A wire screen or a wood veneer protector is effective, but here is another method. Fold a newspaper so that there are several thicknesses, wrap it around the trunk of a tree, seeing that the edge of the covering fits snugly against the ground, tie it in place with string. The rabbits will not molest it. That is a better use for old copies of your farm paper than kindling the kitchen fire with them.

Ancient Call to Order

"Oyez," pronounced "oh-yez," is an old word meaning "hear ye" or "attend." It is used by clerks of courts to secure silence before a proclamation is read or the proceedings begin. As a rule it is repeated three times.

Edgerton Given Decision After 8 Tough Rounds

Filipino Starts Off Strong But Weakens In The Final Rounds—Jackie Reid Given Decision Over Marlow in Slowest Bout on Program.

Red Edgerton received the decision over Tommy Aboba last night at the armory at the end of eight rounds of fast and furious fighting. The two flyweights kept about six hundred fans in an uproar during the whole fight. Edgerton will probably remember the fight the rest of his life, he received a cauliflower ear as the result of one of the little Filipino's overhand hammer-like blows.

Aboba was out for blood because of the decision given to Edgerton here on December 5. Although Aboba forced the fighting most of the way, his swings were wild and Edgerton kept jabbing hard ones to the face piling up points.

At the sound of the gong in the first round, the clever scrapper from the islands tore in, but Red had no desire to mix it up so early in the fight and kept circling the ropes out of Aboba's reach. The round ended without any damage by either.

In the second round Aboba continued to force the issue. Suddenly Red came in and met him, forced him to the ropes and there the two slugged it out in a half clinch until the referee parted them. Aboba was working on the kidneys and Red the abdomen. The Filipino had a powerful wallop, but was unable to break through the splendid defense of the Fort DuPont opponent.

Again in the third round Aboba was forced to the ropes, and they hammered each other much the same as in the preceding round. Toward the end of this round, Edgerton was beginning to force the fighting and the Filipino was tiring slightly.

In the fourth round the dark skinned lad swung terrific blows wildly in a desperate effort to land on the jumping Edgerton. Although the redhead seemed to lack a powerful punch, he kept jabbing his fist in Aboba's face in a gentle manner.

The fifth round continued in the same way, with Aboba swinging hard but landing seldom in vital spots, and Red continued to jab away at his face.

Aboba rushed Red in the sixth and Red met him in the center of the ring. They exchanged hand punches with about an even break.

It was in the seventh that the Filipino landed a smashing overhand blow on Red's ear and turned it into a cauliflower. All the way the battle was extremely fast and the fighters got a big hand.

In the eighth round Aboba realized that he must get Red by a knock-out if he was to win the bout and he tore in relentlessly. Poor judgment of distance caused his blows to fan the air and he tired quickly. Red showed that he had reserved his strength for the final round and punished Aboba severely with lefts and rights to the face.

Reid Beat Marlow. In the semi-final six round bout, Jackie Reid of Newburgh won the decision over Eddie Marlow, colored lad from Fort Hamilton. This fight was considered the slowest one on the card. It had its exciting moments however. One came in the first round when Jackie landed a hard one on Marlow's jaw and felled him for the count of nine.

George Fabie and Walter Handel fought a hard fast battle in another six round affair. Handel won the decision over the colored lad. Handel weighed 140 and Fabie 138 pounds.

Spergel Wins Over Reid. The third six round bout brought Stanley Reid of Newburgh, brother of Jackie, against Mike Spergel, of the 22nd Engineers of New York. In the first round Spergel knocked Stanley off balance and felled him. Stanley was up immediately but not exactly clear in mind. He was about to land on the referee when he discovered Spergel in his corner. Spergel was given the decision on points. Reid weighed 138. Spergel 139. Again in the fifth Spergel felled Stanley with a solar plexus for the count of nine.

The opening bout was a lively one while it lasted. Kid Rash knocked out Johnny Abbin in the third round with a left smash to the jaw. The bout was scheduled for four rounds.

The officials were: Jack Malone, timekeeper, and Bill Singer and Leo Daley, judges.

John Heisman to Retire as Coach of Football

With the close of the 1927 gridiron campaign rounding out a coaching career of 35 years, John W. Heisman, athletic director and head football coach at Rice Institute at Houston, Texas, has announced his retirement. With the exception of Alonzo A. Stagg of the University of Chicago, no man has coached football longer than Heisman.

The veteran announced his resignation at a banquet of Rice students. The resignation has been accepted and while the sixty-year-old mentor did not outline his plans for the future, he indicated he had coached his last football team.

Before coming to Rice, Heisman coached for several years at Georgia Tech, including 1917 when the Golden Tornado ranked as one of the country's leading elevens.

Jockey Hardy Now Holds World's Record for Wins

"Longshot" Hardy, a lad of eighteen, with only one year's experience in the saddle, holds the world's record for winning mounts on thoroughbred horses for a single season by virtue of riding to victory in 207 races.

Previous records were held by Ivan Parke, with 205 winners, and Guy Garner, with 203.

Hardy is the third jockey to cross 200 in the history of the American turf. He broke in on Ohio tracks in 1926 and was several months getting his first winner home. This happened on September 30, 1926, at Columbus.

Last spring Hardy began riding on Chicago tracks, almost unknown, and became a sensation almost overnight. C. E. "Boots" Durnell purchased Hardy's contract for $12,000, and Hardy has since been riding for the Three D's stable, managed by Durnell for E. T. Waggoner, Texas millionaire.

COMBINATION TEAM TO PLAY CHANDLERS

A combination of former Kingston High School varsity basketball players will meet the Chandlers Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. court in what is expected to be a fast battle.

Some of the men on the former team now play with colleges and have been through the mill of good coaching. While they played with the local high school team the following men showed up well on the court as they are expected to do Friday night: Tetley, Cranston, Baker, Keilther, Shults, DuBois and Winston.

The Chandlers will depend upon the regular lineup of Niles, Fox, Kennedy, Smith, Hoffman and Dulin. Tentative plans have been made by the Chandlers to have the Italian American five of Newburgh appear against them at the "Y" Saturday night. The Roamers and the Y's Men's team will play a preliminary to the Chandlers game Friday night.

LOCAL "Y" BOWLERS ARE GOING STRONG

Sunday School League Results

The Presbyterians defeated the Trinity quintet, 48-29 in the curtain raiser when the Y. M. C. A. Sunday School League games were staged at the "Y" court Wednesday night. The winners went to work early in the game and were in front at the end of the first half, 29-19. Niles did the best scoring for the Presbyterians with 22 points. Thompson kept Trinity in the running with a contribution of eight markers.

The second exhibition of the evening between the Port Ewen team and the Comforter five was a tough struggle, captured by the former team, 25-23. The Comforters sprouted out in the opening half and led the opposing team at the end of the frame 18-11. The Port Ewens however soon asserted their ability in the second half and captured the contest. Roosa of the Comforters played a good defensive game and held Van Etten of the Port Ewen team, leading scorer of the league, to five points. Williams of the Comforters registered 10 markers during the game while Torrens of Port Ewen gleamed the same number.

The Congregationals had a tough session during the opening half with the Redeemers. The frame ended 19-7 with the former quintet in the lead. In the second half the Redeemers were not as active and the terminating whistle closed the contest with the Congregationals in the lead 26-16. Krum scored heavily for the Congregationals and Hank Dittus did the star shooting for the Redeemers. They gleamed 16 and nine respectively.

WARRINGTONS OVERWHELM THE COMMUNITY FIVE

Wednesday night at the Jewish Community Center the Warringtons quietly vanquished the Community Five, 29 to 9. The Warringtons clinched the game in the first half by collecting 15 points and holding their opponents scoreless. Snyder and Fitzgerald corralled field goals in fine style scoring 15 and 14 points respectively. The Warringtons' pass-work was good and their opponents could not at any time penetrate their defense to any extent. Perlman of the Community Five scored five points, the highest of that team. All of the field goals scored by the Community Five were by long shots from near the center of the floor.
